New Federalism Fund Applauds U.S. Senator Cory Gardner's Plans to Introduce a Bipartisan Cannabis Bill to Senate Floor

Legislation would give deference to states that have chosen to legalize cannabis on the basis of federalism and the Tenth Amendment

DENVER, CO (04/26/18) – The New Federalism Fund (NFF) applauds Senator Gardner's (R-CO) new bipartisan cannabis bill that will break down barriers from the threat of federal prosecution in states that have legalized cannabis. This legislation, cosponsored by Sen. Elizabeth Warren (D-MA), would ensure that cannabis is a states' rights issue, leaving federal oversight out of it.

"Sen. Gardner continues to be a vocal champion on issues pertaining to the ever-growing cannabis industry," said Neal Levine, Chairman of the New Federalism Fund. "We are grateful for his leadership on this issue and applaud his bi-partisan approach."

About New Federalism Fund

The New Federalism Fund is a non-partisan 501(c)4. Its board members and contributors are those interested in state-first regulation of state-based commerce and creating a common sense regulatory system for those who are in or serve the state-based cannabis industry.
